Youth Healing Hate Grant Application

The M.K. Gandhi Institute for Nonviolence is offering up to $1,000 for groups of youth ages 12-24 to design creative solutions for fear, hostility, and division within their communities. We are interested in supporting projects that incorporate the arts, outreach, and education to support healing within our communities. Grants will be evaluated based on their creativity, financial efficiency, vision, and thoughtful planning. Please note that past recipients are unfortunately not eligible for further grant funding. Funding will be disbursed by March 1st and groups will have 4 months to implement their project. Application due January 28th.
